

“The Chance for Peace” 1953

“We must guard against the unwarranted acquisition of power by the military-industrial complex . . . Every gun that is made, every warship launched, every rocket fired signifies, in the final sense, a theft from those who hunger and are not fed, those who are cold and are not clothed. This world in arms is not spending money alone. It is spending the sweat of its laborers, the genius of its scientists, the hopes of its children. We pay for a single fighter plane with a half million bushels of wheat. For a single destroyer with new homes that could house more than 8,000 people. This is not a way of life at all, in any true sense. Under the cloud of threatening war, it is humanity hanging from a cross of iron. It is (a time) in the affairs of nations when the gravest choices must be made, if there is to be a turning toward a just and lasting peace. Is there no other way the world may live?”

Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. “A nation that year after year spends more money on military defense than on programs of social uplift is approaching spiritual death.”

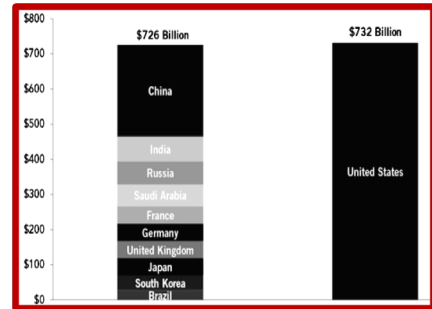

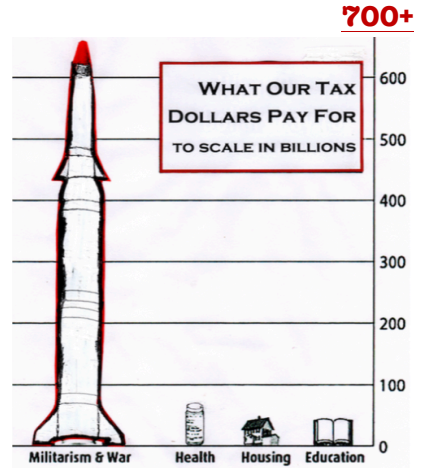

Pope Francis “It would be an absurd contradition to speak of peace, negotiate peace and, at the same time, promote or permit arms sales.”

It can help address viable ways to create equitable, sustainable communities both here and abroad by redirecting some of our warfare billions.

BRING OUR WAR DOLLARS HOME!

“Study Says Domestic, Not Military Spending, Fuels Job Growth” Brown University 5/25/17, by Gillian Kiley. “New research by the Costs of War Project . . . finds that federal spending on domestic programs creates far more American jobs and yields more broad-based benefits than military spending.” Every $1 million in federal military spending creates fewer jobs than the same spending in other domestic job growth areas.

California Peace Budget Resolution

Whereas the U.S. Congress has dramatically increased military spending in recent years, depriving us of those funds for human and environmental spending at home and abroad, and bringing military spending to well over 60% of the federal discretionary budget,

Whereas environmental and human needs are desperate and urgent,

Whereas fractions of the U.S. military budget could provide free, top quality education from pre-school through college, end hunger and starvation, convert the U.S. to clean energy, provide clean drinking water everywhere it's needed on the planet, build fast trains between all major U.S. cities, and double non-military U.S. foreign aid rather than cutting it,

Whereas 3 percent of U.S. military spending could end starvation on earth,

Whereas a fraction of military spending could prepare the U.S. to better handle disease pandemics,

Whereas part of helping alleviate the refugee crisis should be ending not escalating wars that create refugees,

Whereas a December 2014 Gallup poll of 65 nations found that the U. S. was far and away considered the largest threat to peace in the world, and a Pew poll in 2017 found majorities in most countries polled viewing the U.S. as a threat,

Whereas a nation responsible for providing clean drinking water, schools, medicine, and solar panels to others would be more secure and face far less hostility around the world,

Whereas the U.S. military is itself the single greatest consumer of petroleum,

Whereas economists at the U. of Massachusetts / Amherst have documented that military spending is an economic drain rather than a jobs program,

Whereas polling has found the U.S. public to favor reductions in military spending,

Whereas the Pentagon has not passed an audit and engages in massive accounting fraud,

Be It Therefore Resolved that the State of California urges the U.S. Congress to move some of the hundreds of billions of our tax dollars from militarism to human and environmental needs.
